

PUBLIC DEBT OF VIRGINIA Encouraging Facts From Second Auditor Ryland's Report.

FISCAL YEAR ENDING SEPT. 30. Literary Fund Investments—Interest on Public Debt—Governor Tyler Refuses Two Pardons and Grants Two.

The annual report of Second Auditor Ryland for the fiscal year ending September 30, 1899, was received from the printer Saturday. This report covers the condition of the public debt, of the literary fund, and the report of the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund of Virginia.

The report shows that the amount of bonds issued under act of February 2, 1882, known as Centuries, has increased during the past year, $8,913.34, making the amount of bonds outstanding that issue, $18,020,025.75, of which $2,300 are held by the Literary Fund, and $15,720 by the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund, leaving in the hands of the public $15,663,565.75.

The amount of old bonds still unpurchased is very small, and there is not much probability of any further increase in the amount of Century bonds.

NEARLY ALL SURRENDERED. The bonds with tax receivable coupons, which have given the state so much trouble in past years, have nearly all been surrendered, and the amount of interest on the public debt during the past year, this includes $13,000 paid on judgments for taxes with tax receivable coupons.

INTEREST ON PUBLIC DEBT. The disbursement account shows that $77,752.28 was paid on account of interest on the public debt during the past year. This includes $13,000 paid on judgments for taxes with tax receivable coupons.

REPORT OF THE COMMISSIONERS OF THE SINKING FUND. The report of the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund shows that they received during the past year $2,300,000 in dividends from the state's interest in the Richmond, Fredericksburg and Potomac railroad, and that there is now in the treasury to the credit of this fund $1,725,000.

PARDONS REFUSED AND GRANTED. Application for conditional pardon of Boney Fulton, serving five years for attempted assault, was exceedingly refused by Governor Tyler. The prisoner is serving a one-year sentence for aiding and abetting a malicious assault. He was convicted in Middlesex County Court.

Justice John was just a trifle late yesterday in reaching the Police Court owing to the time consumed in stopping on the street corners to deny the report that he will be candidate for the United States Senate.

There are lots of people who would vote for him for anything up to president, but he appreciates that to be police Justice of Richmond is a great honor and wants it understood that he is satisfied with the job.

THE NATIONAL COLORS—the florists triumphantly decorated the apex of the coat of arms of the Dispenser of Justice on earth yesterday.

A PRETTY PICTURE. Justice John was in his best. The usually shaded chamber was pierced by rays of sunshine from without and the incident in the back of the picture were submitted against the culprits.
